[For the Dispatch.] The Other Side.

In a late issue you presented some onjections to the translation given in King James's version to John ii., 4: "What have I to do with thee." I have met with similar ones before, and it occurred to me that some of your readers might like to know some of the reasons which probably induced the translators to render the passage as we find it. Rendered word for word, it reads, "What to me and to thee." We have found the following similar passages in the Bible. In the Old Testament: Joshua, xxii., 24; Judges, xi., 12; II. Samuel, xvi., 10, and xix., 22; 1. Kings, xvii., 18; II. Kings, iii., 13, and ix., verses 18 and 19. And in the New Testament : Matthew, viii., 29; Mark, 1., 24, and v., 7; Luke, iv., 34, and viii., 28; also, Matthew, xxvii., 19. where the literal translation would be, "Nothing to thee and to that just one."

Now, we would leave those who have the leisure to examine these texts in their connection and decide for themselves what the meaning of such expressions in the Bible is. But for those who have not leisure suppose we select a few: In Joshua, xxiv., 24 the tribes of Reuben and Gad say they have built an altar for fear the children of the other tribes would say to their children, "What to you and to the Lord God of Israel," and turn them away from the fear of the Lord. In II. Kings, iti., 13, Elisha tells the idolatrous King of Israel, "What to me and to thee" "get thee to the prophets of thy father and to the prophets of thy mother"; and verse 14, but for the pre-sence of Jehoshaphat he would not look at him. In II. Kings, ix., 18 and 19 the rebel Jehu replies to King Joram's messenger, "What to peace and to thee, turn thee be hind me." In the New Testament all the texts except the last are addresses by demons to Christ, begging to be let alone. Let your readers select any one of them and decide for themselves whether complete satisfaction, intimate communion of soul, is the sense most natural and best suits the connection.

"The Prayer of the Betrothed."

BY F. P. F.

[Published by request of 8-19-2.]

- Father, I come before Thy throne.
 With low and bended knee,
 To thank Thee with a grateful tone
 For all Thy love to me.
 Forgive me if my heart, this hour,
 1 give not all to Thee;
 For deep affection's mighty power
 Divides it now with Thee.
- Thou knowest, Father, every thought That wakes within my breast. And how this heart has vainly sought
- To keep its love supprest.

 I et, when the idol-worshipp'd love sits fondly by my side.

 And breathes the vows I cannot shun To me, his destined bride. Forgive me, if the loving kiss
- He leaves upon my brow
 Is thought of in an hour like this,
 And thrills me even now.
 He's chesen me to be his love,
 And comforter through life;
 Enable me, O! God, to prove
 A loving, faithful wife.
- He knows not, Father, all the deep Affections I control— The thousand loving thoughts that sweep Resistless o'er my soul. He knows not each deep fount of love That gushes warm and free; My warm idolatry.
- Then guard him, Father; round his way Thy choicest blessings cast; And render each successive day Still happier than the last.

 And, Father, grant us so to live
 That, when this life is o'er,
 Within the happy home you give We'll meet to part no more.

[For the Dispatch.] To My Paper.

Prophet of our age, O paper!
None should ever thee defame!
For the rod thou art restraining;
Liberty and trath unchaining;
And subduing passion's flame. Gifts, dominion, sway possessing;
All of uncomputed worth,
For the birth of wrongs preventing,
And supporting souls dissenting,
From the powers corrupting earth.

Thou resemblest Great Apollo; That dissolveth chilling snow, Rouseth vines supinely creeping, And awaketh roses sleeping In the lurid, gelid glow.

I am always quick to greet thee, Noblest herald of the news! Thee I love for patriot feeling; Thee I love for light revealing; And I love thee to peruse.

As the cloud bediens the sunbeams, So thou oft dost shadows cast O'er the vulgar expectations. For the world's raised exaltations High upon its gilded mast.

Mirrored in thy face of brightness, Oft, commingled, are unveiled Merry laugh with anger blended, Gravest thought with wit attended, And a tift for views assailed.

Gered thou hast my guilty bosom Caused my joy to sorrow change; Tingling pains and tickling pleasures Flow from out thy mystic measures

And thy vast discursive range. It was through thy tender tribute
To the sainted, blighted clay
That my heart was pierced with sadness,
And recalled my sinful madness
When the slumbering answer'd "Nay."

Once in thee a minor notice
Caused my worship to decline;
Earth and heaven appear'd consorted
To unveil a love distorted.

Till the answer, " Wholly thine." GILA MORAES. CHARLESTON, S. C., May 7, 1878.

Editor of the Journal of Commerce: .Please tell me .who wrote the hymn beginning, "Rock of Ages, cleft for me," and give the original version. It has been

Rock of Ages, cleft for me. Let me hide myself in Thee! Let the water and the blood. From Thy riven side which flowed, Be of sin the double cure, Cleanse me from its guilt and power. Not the labors of my hands Can fulfil Thy law's demands;

Could my zeal no resuite know, Could my tears forever flow, All for sin could not atone; Thou must save, and Thou alone.

Nothing in my hand I bring; Simply to Thy Cross I cling; Naked, come to Thee for dress; Helpless, look to Thee for grace; Foul, I to the Fountain fiv: Wash me, Saviour, or I die.

While I draw this fleeting breath when I draw this needing breath, when in y eyestrings break in death, when I soar through tracis unknown, See Thee on Thy judgment-throne; Rock of Ages, cleft for me, Let me hide myself in Thee!

Good-Night.

My heart is with you as I kneel to pray—
Good-night! God keep you in His care alway.

A MANIFEST ABSURDITY.

It is manifestly absurd to claim for a mere stimulant tonic and alterative properties. Yet this is what is daily done by the vendors of cheap local bitters, colored to make them look attractive, and agreeably flavored, but the alcoholic basis of which is of the vilest and most hurtful description. The transcendent success of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the leading alternative tonic of the United States, has induced many of these compounders of drams in disguise to attempt the counterfeiting of this standard medicine, but their efforts have never proved successful on a large scale, and they have themselves in many instances notoriously " come to grief," through the instrumentality of the law.

The genuine Bitters have, indeed, a spirituous basis, but they are emphatically a medicine, since their botanic ingredients are signally efficacious in overcoming and preventing chills and fever, dyspepsia, liver complaint, constipation, and many my 28-Tu,Th,S&W other disorders.

containing about

SIX HUNDRED AND FIFTY ACRES OF LAND, with the BUILDINGS, HOTELS, OUT-HOUSES,

SPRINGS, &c., connected therewith. Under the requirments of said decrees so much of the property will be first offered as to exclude from said offer 200 acres of land, a brick cottage, the out-houses in the rear of the same, and two frame cottages, set apart as the property of Mrs. M. M. Harrison by the court; and then (if no bid should be made sufficient to cover the debts and incambrances provided for by said decrees) the said 200 acres and buildings set apart to Mrs. Harrison will be also offered, both separately and in connection with the entire property.

Them of Sale: Twenty per cent. of the purchase-money in cash; the remainder in three equal instalments, at one, two, and three years, bearing interest. Bond and security required for the deferred instalments.

A map of the property will be exhibited at the sale. It may also be seen at the office of W. A. Quarrier, Charleston, W. Va., at any time before the day of sale.

The improvements upon this property are of the most durable character, and are capable of accommodating several hundred visitors; and the place has always had a high reputation as a watering-place both on account of its local attractions and the medicinal qualities of its waters. Aside from its value as a watering-place, this property, with its extensive buildings—some of the largest being of stone—could be readily converted into an extensive manufacturing establishment or into a college.
